CAPE COD, Mass. – Jaime Capra of Brandeis University has been chosen as the 2007-08 ECAC Division III New England Women's Basketball Player of the Year, in a vote by the coaches of ECAC member institutions. Capra, an ECAC second team selection last year, scored 15.2 points and grabbed 6.6 rebounds per outing this season. The University Athletic Association (UAA) Co-Player of the Year led the Judges to an at-large berth and the second round of the NCAA tournament.

Tufts University freshman guard, Colleen Hart, has been chosen as the 2007-08 ECAC Division III Women's Basketball Rookie of the Year. The New England Small College Athletic Conference (NESCAC) Rookie of the Year scored 11.4 points per game, to go along with 3.5 boards and 3.4 assists.

Joining Capra on the ECAC first team are Khalilah Ummah from Tufts, Colleen Feeney of Bridgewater State College, Meg Coffin from Bates College, and Stacey Kent from the University of Southern Maine.

Ummah led the Jumbos to a 26-4 record and the Elite Eight of the NCAA tournament behind her double figure averages in points (12.9) and rebounds (10.0). The senior forward was named NESCAC Player of the Year for her efforts. Feeney was a force in the Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference (MASCAC) as she earned the league's 'Player of the Year' honor. The senior center averaged 20.3 points (12th in Division III) and 13.1 rebounds (sixth in Division III), while leading the Bears to the conference title and the NCAA tournament. Coffin scored 15.3 points per game, as she shot 56.4 percent from the floor (18th in Division III). The senior center also picked up 9.4 rebounds per contest. Kent, a junior guard, averaged 14.6 points and 5.8 boards per game this season as the Huskies (25-4) made the NCAA tournament for a 14th consecutive season.
